Women on Waves, Women on Web and ROSA Northern Ireland joined forces to send abortion pills to the women in Northern Ireland. Women on Waves asserts its mission is to “prevent unwanted pregnancy,” while its sister organization “Women on Web” delivers abortion pills through the mail.

ROSA Northern Ireland describes itself as a “Socialist Feminist Movement” that seeks to end reproductive oppression.

“The abortion robot will mark the different legal reality for Northern Irish women, who still have to rely on new technology, like telemedicine, drones and robots that use international legal loopholes to protect their rights,” Women on Waves wrote in a press release.

The group considers its work vital to the well-being of women in Northern Ireland, despite the fact that people who violate the law can face up to 14 years behind bars.

The first batch of pills, delivered via robot, is set to arrive in Northern Ireland on Thursday. The robots will be operated from the Netherlands, Gizmodo reports.
