

Condé Nast
Traveller

SAVE 50% - JUST £2 AN ISSUE

ORDER NOW >

MAIN MENU ▾

MY STORIES: 24 ▾

FORUMS

LAW & DISORDER / CIVILIZATION & DISCONTENTS

Abortion Drone will deliver at-home abortion pills from Germany to Poland

Stunt is to highlight discrepancy in abortion law between Poland and rest of the EU.

by Sebastian Anthony - Jun 24, 2015 12:32pm EDT

6

The Abortion Drone (which appears to be a DJI Phantom quadcopter).

This coming Saturday, June 27, the Abortion Drone will make its first flight from Frankfurt (Oder) in Germany to Słubice in Poland, delivering at-home abortion pills. Most countries within the European Union allow a pregnancy to be terminated within the first trimester (about 12 weeks), except Ireland, Poland, and Malta.

The drone flight is being organised by Women on Waves, a Dutch non-profit, along with activist groups in Germany and Poland. Abortion is illegal in Poland, except in extreme cases. At-home abortion pills (in this case mifepristone and misoprostol) are freely available in most of Europe, including Germany, but not in Poland.

Słubice is literally just a few yards away from Frankfurt (Oder); they are separated by the river Oder, which also happens to be the Germany-Poland border. The drone (a quadcopter) will be loaded up with some at-home abortion pills and then land somewhere in Słubice (the exact location will be announced on Friday). The purpose of the stunt, according to Women on Waves, is to hopefully get Poland (and presumably Ireland and Malta) to change their stance on abortion.

Women on Waves says that, because the drone will stay within sight of the pilot, and it does not fly through controlled airspace, no authorisation is required by either the German or Polish authorities. The legality of flying unapproved drugs into a foreign country seems somewhat questionable, however.

WORLD EXCLUSIVE
MEET CAITLYN JENNER...

DOWNLOAD NOW >

LATEST FEATURE STORY ▾

FEATURE STORY (1 PAGE)

Yoshi's Woolly World
reviewed: A warm, woolly
platforming hug

There's a feel of the familiar, but plenty of gorgeous, nostalgic fun to be had.

STAY IN THE KNOW WITH ▾

LATEST NEWS ▾

BRUTE FORCE

Women on Waves has previously used boats to pick women up from Poland and offer abortions while in international waters.

READER COMMENTS 6

Sebastian Anthony / Sebastian is the editor of Ars Technica UK. He writes about any and all aspects of science and technology. Read more about the launch of Ars Technica UK.
@mrseb on Twitter

← OLDER STORY

NEWER STORY →

YOU MAY ALSO LIKE ↴

Samsung silently disabling Windows Update on some computers [Updated]

CAUGHT ON TAPE

Phone recording of anesthesiologist mocking patient leads to £320k verdict

GENETICS GONE AWRY

Mystery pooper: Firm to pay £1.4M over forced DNA testing for workers

Patch early, patch often: Adobe pushes emergency fix for active 0-day

European skeleton had Neanderthal ancestor less than 200 years earlier

RED BULL GIVES YOU GAAAAAMES

Red Bull drinkers will get first crack at new Destiny mission

SITE LINKS

- About Us
- Advertise with us
- Contact Us

MORE READING

- RSS Feeds
- Newsletters
- Visit Ars Technica US

CONDE NAST SITES

- Reddit
- Wired
- GQ
- Vanity Fair
- Condé Nast Traveller

VIEW MOBILE SITE