

Drone used to fly abortion pills into Northern Ireland

8:16 am today

A coalition of women's rights groups has used a drone to fly abortion pills from the Irish Republic into Northern Ireland.

The women say they are highlighting strict abortion laws on both sides of the border.

Unlike the rest of the UK where abortion is legal, Northern Ireland has a near-total ban on terminations.

Next story in News Bites: 65-year-old woman assaulted in Porirua

Copyright © 2016, Radio New Zealand

© Copyright Radio New Zealand 2016